Dear Roy,

I wanted to take a minute and tell you how much I appreciate your association with us on our recent successful ISO certification.

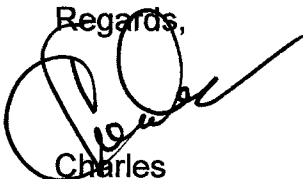

Your professional demur and approach to understanding our company early-on was remarkable. Your helping us to understand the management system process that we then used to increase profitability for our company was most beneficial.

I have been through the ISO processes in former companies so have some idea of the importance of one in your position to stay within the boundaries, but also teach us the vision of the ISO standard.

It is refreshing to have someone come into our company with the ethical and professional standards you exemplified.

We look forward to working with you in the future as Escort expands our systems and processes to meet new technology demands in the market place.

Regards,

Charles
